The Apache Jakarta POI Documentation Translations

by Andrew C. Oliver

1. Introduction

The POI project has always had a very international following. In fact even today POI is more popular in Europe than in the US where the original founders reside. Today POI is developed by people from all over the world including India, Austrailia, Japan, and Russia. We recognize and welcome our geographically and culturally diverse users and contributors and wish to accomidate you as best as we can.

Documentation has always been a cornerstone to POI's success. No matter how fluent one is in a second language, it is always easier to comprehend concepts explained in one's native language, therefore, we encourage volunteers to come and help us translate the documentation into other languages. Below is a list of the translations that are currently in progress and their status.

2. Languages

xx	Language	Status	On/Offsite	Link
de	German	Just beginning (help!)	On	link
es	Spanish	Index page, some auxiliary pages translated	On	link
jp	Japanese	Complete XML translations and built with FORREST	Off	link
kr	Korean	Conducted by Jakarta-Seoul-Project.	Off	link